

REALISTIC & RELEVANT

Our world is complex. And so are its threats.

The JMRC training scenarios replicate complex challenges through the full immersion of units, from deployment to offense, defense and stability tasks.

FULLY-REPLICATED THEATER ENVIRONMENT

Civilian role-players, replicated villages, interagency participation and detailed scenarios add depth and realism within the JMRC's operational environments.

EVERY EXERCISE IS MULTINATIONAL

Located among the highest concentration of U.S. Allies in the world, the JMRC is where Allies and Partners hone the tools of tactical interoperability.

EXERCISING ALL WAR-FIGHTING FUNCTIONS

The JMRC is able to train a wide variety of U.S. and Allied formations, from airborne to armor, aviation to artillery, as well as combat support units, in both Hohenfels and throughout Europe.

ANALYSIS & FEEDBACK

All JMRC exercises are captured and analyzed by dedicated trainers who digitally track units and provide detailed feedback for lessons learned and improved unit readiness.

LOCATION MATTERS: THE HOHENFELS TRAINING AREA

At the heart of central Europe, the Hohenfels Training Area's 163 km² of thickly-forested hills and narrow valleys provide an ideal setting for the JMRC to build the multinational relationships and interoperability that form the core of a Strong Europe.

Connected to other training resources and exercises in Germany and throughout Europe.

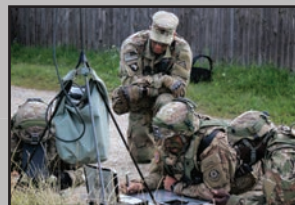

Replicated towns and role players set the stage for realistic and complex operating environments.

VETERAN OBSERVER-COACH TRAINERS

The JMRC's hand-picked OCT Cadre are experts in U.S. Army and NATO doctrine, tactics, techniques and procedures.

The JMRC's OCTs provide feedback through full-time mentorship, after-action reviews and take-home packages.

REPLICATING THE CURRENT THREAT

The 1st Battalion, 4th Infantry Regiment is Army Europe's professional Opposing Force.

1-4 and its Allied partners are capable of replicating all enemies, from "near-peer" conventional to irregular forces (insurgent, guerilla, paramilitary, criminal) and/or hybrid threats.

Managed training lands provide maneuver spaces that sustain both the environment inside and outside of Hohenfels and the future of military training in here.

Drop zones and a short-takeoff and landing (STOL) strip, Unmanned Aerial System strip and a parachute landing fall pit provide flexibility for joint/combined airborne training.

Cameras and sensors capture valuable data for training analysis and after-action reviews and create a fully-instrumented environment.
